DSL

1993

It's 2012. But are you still using Internet technology from 1993?

If you have Verizon, that could be true. Because in many areas, instead of offering the best Internet technology, Verizon is still selling DSL — a slower, aging technology that's been around since the 90s.

Don't settle for subpar service from Verizon.
Switch to Comcast Business Class for:

Today's Internet technology.

You can't act at the speed of opportunity with Verizon's DSL. It's time to upgrade to a new breed of speed.

- Broadband Internet that's 8x faster than DSL
- Cloud services from Microsoft
- Web hosting and Microsoft® Outlook

Voice service that delivers more.

Get long distance and calling features without paying extra.

- Unlimited nationwide calling
- Voicemail with online access
- Caller ID, Call Forwarding, Hunt Group and more

TV that adds extra value.

Keep customers and employees informed and entertained.

- Includes all the major networks
- Catch up on business, local news and weather

Service that's always ready.

Our team is ready to respond with 24/7 business class support and rapid service appointments. You can't get that from Verizon.

Bring your technology out of the past and into the present. Make the switch from tired old DSL to Comcast Business Class — the fastest business Internet provider in the nation, according to PC Mag. Visit www.cant-wait.com or call 800-XXX-XXXX today.
